

from auto mechanics class

Only qualifiers graduate

BELLE GLADE—With schools across the nation coming under fire for turning out graduates unable to cope with "the real world," an astounding 80 percent of one local teacher's students are ready to go right to work.

Shakespeare may be foreign to them but Ken Bowermeister's students, or at least those who complete his course, are capable of tuning up a cranky engine and, doing a brake job...and if Shakespeare rounds out an education, those skills fill out a wallet.

Bowermeister is, and has been for the past nine years, the auto mechanics instructor at Glades Central and alumni of his classes can be found all over the Glades, working in dealerships, sugar mills and other places.

He said 80 percent of his seniors are able to go straight from high school to full-time positions, with Bowermeister himself working to help find positions for them, working as teacher and job counselor.

Jerry Kirichman, a 1977 Glades Central graduate, is working at Siboney Motors. Robert Dowdell, class of '78, is also working there. Ronnie Harrison is at Bennie's Auto Parts and Joe Harrison is working at the county barn for Palm Beach County.

All of these men were placed by Bowermeister after they completed his course.

"Mr. Bowermeister got me my job 100 percent," Kirichman said. "He taught us job attitudes as well as how to work on cars. He gave us his whole time, and still does. Whenever I have a problem on a car, I still go to him."

Students enrolled in this year's class seem to feel the same way. Ten of the beginning students were interviewed about their class. Eight of them said they intend to pursue the course, six of them want to make a career of it and all said they feel that if they do their work, they'll have no problem getting a full time position at graduation.

Bowermeister said he only keeps the members of the beginning class who show an aptitude for mechanics and a desire to pursue the course.

"Out of 22 members in the beginning class," he said, "I'll weed out six of ten. The remainder will be the advanced class. The student I weed out may be capable but not interested. That's important."

"I'm not trying to graduate service station mechanics," he said. "I want my graduates to be ready to go to work with a dealer."

On the other hand, he said he makes it a point, when he places a graduate, that the dealer should send the graduate to specialty schools. He said the only major

ARC ENTERTAINERS, who were members of the ARC Adult Program and staff members, let members and guests know they wanted them to gather round the ole money tree to help keep the program alive.

Glades ARC officers installed

BELLE GLADE—More than 40 members of the Glades Area Association of Retarded Citizens (GAARC, or, as it's more commonly known, ARC) were told Tuesday they could expect to have to provide more local support to continue the program in the face of anticipated state funding cuts.

Former state ARC President William Taylor, who is also a former state representative, told the group during its annual meeting at the Municipal Civic Center that even though Florida is 47th on the list of states in ranking of taxes, cuts can still be expected.

"There is a very definite move," he said, "in the state legislature to reduce taxes. It's coming in the form of a two mill reduction in ad valorem taxes, with the state picking up the difference."

"The tax dollars saved," he went on, "will be in human help programs."

Taylor said he fully expects even greater funding of education and, in the wake of the Silver Haired Legislature, programs for the elderly, which would mean even less money being available for the other human-oriented programs such as GAARC.

He urged the group to develop an alternative plan for obtaining funding, adding the absence of such a plan would inevitably mean a reduction in services GAARC will be capable of providing.

He said priorities will have to be set because the local group will probably have to decide where it will spend the dollars that will be available and there is the possibility some programs will have to be cut or eliminated altogether.

Before painting the picture of less income, however, Taylor, congratulated GAARC on its growth, saying that at the last year's annual meeting, there were only about 20 people present, less than half the number there Tuesday night.

He said GAARC is working in harmony with a philosophy imbedded in the founding of the country; that society will not allow the weak and helpless go unaided.

He pointed out also that dollars are often best spent to prevent a problem rather than attempting to solve it after it becomes a problem.

He said a pre-school program, such as the one operated by GAARC, costs $4,500 per year per child but if the program isn't available, it could mean the same child will have to be institutionalized, which costs $12,000 per year per child.

"What this means," he said, "is that you're going to have to commit yourselves to a community spirit and involvement to solve these problems."

Before new officers and board members were sworn in for the third year in operation, GAARC Coordinator Tricia Blash noted the organization had grown from 30 members last year to 123 members as of this week.

She also presented awards to non-members who have been particularly helpful to GAARC, presenting certificates of appreciation to Taylor, for his support in helping the local chapter get started; to David Goodlett, assistant to County Commissioner Bill Bailey; Belle Glade City Manager Robert R. Sanders; Father Charles Farrar of St. John's Episcopal Church; Dr. Luis Guerrero, Glades Correctional Institution Superintendent R.V. Turner and Belle Glade Country

Chamber building cost cuts sought

BELLE GLADE—City Commissioners directed the city manager Monday night to work with Chamber of Commerce directors in an attempt to lower the cost of a proposed municipal building to be used as chamber headquarters. This was the second time action on the building was delayed after bids came in for more than $91,000 when the estimated cost was $55,000. The commissioners were told—in a letter from architect Chester Cone two weeks ago the reason for the high bids is inflation.

Cone also said in the letter the cost of the building could be cut by eliminating a proposed parking area, sidewalks and a terrace.

Mayor Tom Altman said the commissioners should look at other possible ways to cut costs by eliminating things the chamber can do without for the time being; to make the overall price more acceptable by sharing the use of the building to a greater extent and to remain flexible on rental rates.

The commissioners and the chamber board of directors agreed almost three years ago that when the building was built, the chamber would move in and pay the city $150 a month until it was paid off.

Altman noted that with the increased cost, the chamber would pay the rent for 48 years in order to pay it off without considering any interest.

Chamber President Charles Trammel said he and other board members would meet with Sanders in an effort to bring down the cost and he said he also felt the chamber would go along with sharing the facility with other groups and would reconsider the amount of rental to be paid the city, who is

Montlake Media papers sold

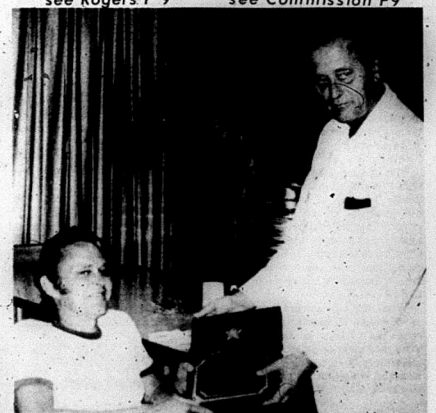

Hammell Newspapers, Inc., a Jupiter-Tequesta based newspaper and publishing group, announces the purchase of the Belle Glade Herald, Inc. and Montlake Media, Inc., publishers of the Clewiston News, Glades County Democrat, Caloosa Belle, Belle Glade Herald, Everglades Observer and Lakeshore Shield. The joint announcement was made Tuesday by Richard N. Hammell, president of Hammell Newspapers and by Mrs. Bettye B. Wall of Hendersonville, N.C. and S.H. Stalls, Montlake Media owners.

The Hammell Newspapers group are publishers of daily newspapers in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa and Oklahoma, along with various real estate holdings and several commercial printing plants in Alabama and Florida. In making the announcement, Hammell said that these newly acquired acquisitions further solidify the growth of the Hammell Newspaper group in Florida.

There are no personnel changes contemplated and S.H. "Sonny" Stalls will continue as general manager of the Clewiston group including Moore Haven, LaBelle, Belle Glade and Pahokee.

Stalls, a native of Moore Haven has been associated with the Moore Haven, LaBelle and Clewiston newspapers for more than 37 years and has served as manager of the Florida newspapers since 1969 when they were purchased from Thomson Newspapers by the late Lawson Braswell of Hendersonville, N.C. Following the acquisition of the original three newspapers, Montlake Media acquired the Everglades Observer in Pahokee in 1971 and the Belle Glade Herald in 1972. The free distribution black newspaper, The Lakeshore Shield, was founded in 1976 to serve the black communities of South Bay, Belle Glade and Pahokee and the Glades Shopper was founded for similar distribution in the white communities of the same three communities. The "Buy" Word advertising was purchased in 1977 to serve Hendry and Glades Counties.

EARL PLANK, former chief dispatcher at the Glades detachment for the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office, was bid farewell last week as members of the detachment held a farewell party for him. Chief Deputy Richard Kellogg presented Plank a plaque commemorating his service to the department and the community during his 17-years on the force. He retired in May.

The speed with which changes are made in the newspaper industry these days is amazing. I've been employed by one paper or another since my eighth birthday and I've seen a lot of them.

Back in the Tylertown Times in Tylertown, Mississippi, I worked in the darkroom and the backshop. Chases, forms which contain molded metal characters, had to be manually lifted and placed in the bed of a 1928 Badcock sheet-fed press back in those days. It was good that I was young and healthy and able to help lift them.

Today, most papers are produced by modern offset methods, like this one is. This is largely a photographic method that utilizes light aluminum plates and full-page sized negatives for actual printing.

In addition, equipment has gone from the very complicated linotype to simple-to-operate phototypesetters and even more changes are due shortly.

I wouldn't be surprised if at some point in the future a newspaperman will merely dictate his story into a machine that will type it out, put it in proper form, and even correct his spelling!

Another change that has come to pass since I've been a newspaper observer is the banding together of papers into groups of chains. When I first began toiling, independent weeklies were the order of the day.

Today, weeklies are a prized and often very profitable acquisition for a larger group to make. Montlake Media began with three papers, expanded to four, then five and finally there were eight.

Now, Montlake Media has been acquired by another, larger newspaper group. Richard Hammell, owner of dailies in the midwest, has noted the opportunity available in the Sunbelt and has purchased Montlake from its owners Mrs. Bette Wall of Hendersonville, North Carolina and Sonny Stalls in Clewiston.

It will likely be said by some in this area that the fact the Belle Glade Herald, Everglades Observer, Lakeshore Shield and Glades Shopper have a new owner that they will no longer be independent.

Nothing could be further from the truth. In order for the community newspaper to survive, it must be independent. In fact, the Observer is independent of the Herald and the Shield is independent of all. Each paper reflects the views of its editor.

As publisher, I would have it no other way. Each editor is more knowledgeable about matters within his or her column or editorial. And it is his or her column or editorial.

And it happened this year that my personal choice for governor was not endorsed by any of my editors.

The same applies to the owner of a newspaper. While he is certainly within his or her rights to make decisions affecting the editorial content, it's not usually done. In the years I have been associated with Mrs. Wall, she has never once indicated to me her editorial wishes.

I expect Mr. Hammell will do the same.

The Belle Glade Herald, Everglades Observer and Lakeshore Shield are local newspapers and are concerned with topics within their own communities. We can't, we will attempt, to report world, national or state news. We can, and we will, continue to report local news.

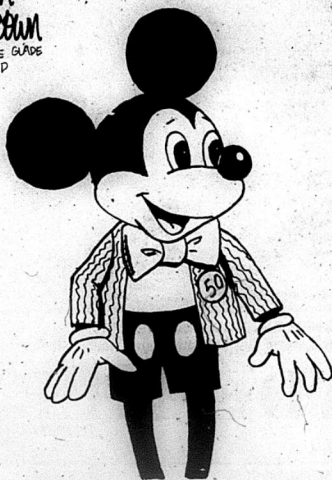

The reason for this is simple. Other news organizations do a pretty fair job of reporting on a national or state basis. But nobody...nobody...reports on local news to the same extent as we. That's not to say we feel like we're doing the best job we can. We aren't. But we're trying each week to do a better one.

What the city government does is of vital importance to the residents of that particular city. Who gets married or attends a club meeting is of interest. Which team won and which lost is given extensive review.

That's why we continue to sell Heralds and Observers and why the Shield is sought after each week. People want to read what is happening in this area and they are finding it published in these three papers.

They'll keep right on finding it, even though we have a new owner.

Censorship

One of the most sacred duties of parents is the protection of their children but in some sections of the country that protection is reaching the logical extreme of painting the world in rosy hues by simply disallowing intrusions of reality.

The protection referred to comes in the form of censoring books out of school libraries across the country, although thankfully not in all schools, because they contain "bad words."

On the face of it, this sounds like a laudable goal. After all, we don't want our children walking around mouthing some of the language more usually associated with drunken sailors and lumberjacks.

But to pretend obscene, profane and erotically suggestive language doesn't exist is worse by burying our heads in the sand and to believe our children won't pick up the language on the street is ludicrous.

Granted, authors are now much more wide open with the words they use in writing their books. Even the coarsest language is everyday fare in novels being written for today's market.

But the language exists and people use it, some more than others but it is being used.

And the books being banned compile a fascinating list. Beginning with the admittedly raunchy classic, "Catcher in the Rye," they run on to others like "Go Ask Alice," "A Separate Peace," "Of Mice and Men."

The entire state of Texas has even excluded several standard dictionaries from their school libraries' shelves because they contain such words as "bed," as a verb which includes the definition of sexual intercourse.

And the further they go, the more disturbing the censorship becomes. The list includes other classics: "1984," "To Kill a Mockingbird," "The Diary of Anne Frank," and "The Scarlet Letter."

There are those, of course, who might consider none of these great books worth keeping if they do, indeed, contain "bad" language. Prudes are with us always. Besides, there's always plenty of other good literature around nobody will ever censor, isn't there?

Maybe, but consider one other book that's been purged from the shelves we haven't listed yet...again because of "bad words".

The Bible.

LakeShore Park

With the consolidated Phases II and III of development of Lakeshore Recreation Park due to begin in the near future, members of the City Commission can already look on this as one of the most valuable investments the city has ever made.

Anyone who's passed by Lakeshore Park since the initial work was completed a few months ago would have to be impressed by the number of people making use of the facilities, an indication of how badly they were needed.

That was with only the beginning of the development completed. Still to be done is the outfield and perimeter fencing, restroom facilities, another softball field and touch up work.

The one softball field, the tennis courts and the basketball court are used so much there have been complaints which could lead to some form of scheduling system. It's needed because there are more people wanting to play than the facility will accommodate.

There may be other city projects involving more citizens but they aren't so visible as the Lakeshore Park and there aren't many of them.

This is one project the commissioners can feel good about but rather than a signal to rest on laurels, it should serve as a need to get started on other recreational facilities such as Airport Park.

It could also serve as notice to the Palm Beach County Commission that there is a real need in the Glades for a regional park on SR 715, a park due to be bought and developed with a beach and park bond issue.

Womanpower!

Considering the Glades population makes up about 5 percent of the total number of people living in Palm Beach County, our women make quite a showing weekend before last when the outstanding women in six different categories were honored.

The "little ole Glades" proved to have some women of towering stature when it came time to pick the cream of the crop and two of the six, Mrs. Ruth Wedgworth and Mrs. Hattie Fields, were among the winners and half the finalists were either Glades residents or got their start in the Glades.

Those other three ladies were Glades residents Mrs. Bee Woods, Mrs. Dolly Hand and former Glades resident Marjorie Crick.

All of which goes back to what Mrs. Hand said a few weeks ago during the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce Awards Banquet.

There are a lot of features about the Glades area that makes it unique, the largest deposit of organic soil in the country and maybe the world, and a climate that's turned the area into the nation's sugar bowl and salad bowl.

But what really makes the area unique is its people, people epitomized by the women honored at the recognition dinner sponsored by the Palm Beach County Commission on the Status of Women.

The commission made good choices in picking Mrs. Wedgworth and Mrs. Fields. They're ladies and citizens in the truest sense of the words and their qualities have already been recognized by other people.

But if we in the Glades have known for some time the caliber of women here, it's still gratifying they're known in other areas also. They represent the best of the Glades.

CRACKER

BY DEAN JONES

Read a couple things about women workers this weekend. Mama never told me, and I'll be doggoned if I can figger 'em out because they sure don't sound like they were written about the same species, much less the same sex.

One, for instance, and mind you, ladies, this ain't me talking, talks about several studies done by the Department of Safety and Research of the Combined Insurance Company of America purporting to say that women working in offices must be a bunch of stumblebums.

What they really said was that white-collar female workers are accident prone, that a woman typist is far more likely to be injured at work than a woman lathe operator or than the man at the next desk.

One study, for example, "found that 80 percent of the disabling office injuries in one year caused absenteeism among women who comprised 66 percent of the office labor force. The rate of disabling work injuries for women was estimated at twice that for men in office occupations."

From what the experts say (and I never claimed to be an expert), women working in offices just can't seem to stay on their feet. They fall down. They fall out of chairs, they fall down stairs, they fall on slick floors, they fall on dry floors, they fall on wet floors, they trip over electric cords, desk drawers, file drawers, waste paper baskets and everything else up to and including tile floors, carpets and anything that may be on the floor or part of it.

If you believe the report, women working in offices can't even negotiate an aisle unless it's been cleared of typewriter carriages hanging over the side of desks, telephone cords, pencil sharpeners, water coolers and any other kind of equipment or furniture.

All those things should be cleared out of the way of accident-prone Ann, the report advises employers, along with wires, and floor electrical outlets and wrinkles and ravelled in carpets.

Floors and hallways should be blocked off while being cleaned or cordoned off to keep the ladies from breaking their attractive necks. File and supply cabinets should be anchored to walls or bolted together to prevent their tipping over if more than one drawer is pulled out and nonglare lighting should be provided to be sure the ladies see all those dangers not removed.

The ladies themselves are advised to keep away from all pointed objects such as pencils, lest they impale themselves and die a horrible death, must sure their wastebaskets are under their desks instead of in the aisle, watch their steps when moving through work areas, being sure to hold tightly to banisters when they walk up or down stairs and never, never walk on a wet floor.

That's just part of it but you get the idea, right? Well, now let's move on to another type of feminine worker, Mrs. Violet Smith, a little old 73-year old grandmotherly type who runs a coal mine in Hay Gulch, Colorado, the King Coal Mine to be precise.

A small embroidery of a nosegay of flowers and the quote, "Love, never faileth," could symbolize Mrs. Smith. Of course, she could also be symbolized by her quote, "Hell no, kid, I ain't going soft. Had to kick a rear end just the other day. Some S.O.B. raised his damn voice at me. Kicked him right out the door."

She also earned Jules Loh, who was interviewing her for The Associated Press, that she never had to use her shotgun to keep federal mine inspectors off her property.

"I run 'em off with a pick handle once, use a two-by-four, and, oh yeh, I chased one little S.O.B. with a butcher knife. But I never drew my gun."

Mrs. Smith, Loh is quick to assure his readers, doesn't actually use the term, "rear end." At 6'0" and 185 pounds and with a positive desire to use that left, she doesn't have to.

And, except for the inspectors and the internal revenue agent who said she hadn't paid her taxes when she knew she had (I flattened the S.O.B. with my fist and kicked his rear end out the door), she's never had a disabling injury at her mine.

Wonder if the insurance guys included her in their survey.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

Informed persons, who realize that detente has become the Russian one-way street, are not surprised to see the recent Soviet propaganda campaign against Zbigniew Brzezinski, the national security adviser of President Jimmy Carter.

The U.S. Communist Party and the Daily Worker, acting under orders from Moscow, have attacked Brzezinski, picturing him as a warmonger, a zealot and a "mad dog." Brzezinski has long been targeted by the Soviet Union as Soviet enemy No. 1 within the Carter administration.

Nevertheless, the fact should not be overlooked that the Russian communists consider Brzezinski the strongest personality among the advisers of President Carter. Therefore, he is a target of the Soviet vicious propaganda campaign. It should be noted that the weakening of the United States military defense system by the Carter administration, President Carter's softness on communism in general, and the many pro-communist outbursts of Andrew Young, the U.S. ambassador to the U.N., have convinced the Russian communists that they can afford to dictate to the U.S. the Russian terms of detente. In brief, the weakness of the Carter administration has invited the Soviet attacks on Brzezinski.

Sincerely yours,
Dr. Alexander V. Berkis

VOLT is looking for community volunteers

BELLE GLADE-Ken Lewis is looking for people to spark teenagers who could be drifting in the wrong direction.

Lewis is coordinator for a county-wide agency called VOLT, Volunteers Orienting Local Teens, which he describes as "something like Big Brothers" and is now attempting to get the agency going in the Glades.

"The Glades has a lot of youths with problems identified," Lewis said, "but not enough volunteers to do much about it. I'm looking for people who will spend four hours a week with some teenager."

He said the purpose of VOLT is to work with the county's juvenile delinquency problem because it becomes a problem. One difference between VOLT and Big Brother is cited is that while Big Brother is oriented toward youths with only one parent, VOLT also takes on youths living with both parents but who are having problems.

Laying the ground for the need of an agency like VOLT, Lewis said that of 21,000 arrests made in Palm Beach County last year, juveniles accounted for 49 percent of all major crimes and 43 percent of all crimes against property.

He said his organization is already dealing with "a handful" of youngsters in the Glades but there are many more who could use help. He said the Division of Youth Services office in the Glades has a list of 600 teenagers who need help but the only programs available deal with them in large groups.

"What we're looking for is a one on one relationship," he said. "We need people, men and women, who are ready to spend some time with these kids; not to go out of their way to entertain them but who'll do things with them they were going to do by themselves anyway."

He said the older person might take the teenager along with them when they go fishing, when they're working on a project around their home but mostly to be there to talk and, even more important, to listen.

"Kids," he said, "and even parents, will turn to these volunteers and open up when they wouldn't turn to a professional counselor over the long term. He said most people think professional counselors have "some kind of bag of tricks" to solve problems and turn problem kids around. It doesn't work that way. Volunteers, people who aren't psychologists or sociologists, can be much more effective."

And if, he said, four hours a week seems like a lot of time, he pointed out that he is currently dealing with three teenagers now, as well as a fourth who is living with him and his wife, and that's in addition to a 60-hour work-week.

He said he also intends to recruit older teenagers in the near future to act as peer counselors, a plan he has already begun implementing in the West Palm Beach area.

He said he also hopes, in the near future, to open an office in the Glades, possibly utilizing a CETA employee but until then, anyone interested in volunteering to spend time with a teenager can call him at 837-2402.

Cattle problems in Glades aired

BELLE GLADE-The history of cattle in the Everglades was highlighted by Dr. Ralph Kidder, who told of problems early settlers encountered during the Belle Glade lotary Club program Tuesday.

Dr. Kidder was an early member of the Experiment Station staff, specializing in cattle and their problems.

He had written a lengthy manuscript on the development of the cattle industry in the Glades and the history has been submitted for publication.

Glades was the basis for problems with cattle, he told the lotary. Although cows can use grass for a complete diet, in certain areas the grass cannot give them all the dietary requirements they must have to survive.

Several trace elements were deficient in the soil and a great deal of experimentation was necessary in order to isolate them and recommend fertilizer suitable for cattle needs. Also, problems arose because of sunburn to cattle because of mineral deficiencies and element poisoning.

The work Dr. Kidder and other members of the Experiment Station staff did was vital before cattle could be raised in the Glades.

New pledge is honored

BELLE GLADE-Xi Iota Alpha held its traditional Progressive Dinner on Saturday, Nov. 18 to honor its new pledges, Mrs. David Campbell and Mrs. Dean Wilson.

The social hour was enjoyed in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Buchanan followed by a candlelight dinner including Rice Imperial, Broccoli with Hollandaise Sauce and Garden Delight in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Harris. Everyone then progressed to Mr. and Mrs. Jim Humphrey's where Cherry Yum Yum and coffee were served.

In addition to the hosts, guests were Mr. and Mrs. Lee Burke, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Cameron, Mr. and Mrs. Marlan Chapman, Dr. and Mrs. Don Fliehs, Mr. and Mrs. Hank Green, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Harris, Mrs. Terry Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Bob White and Mr. and Mrs. Sean Wilson.

over two years time, is almost ready to go to bids according to architect William Beebe.

Beebe, who designed the park, said Tuesday morning he and Community Development (CD) Director Remar Harvin were putting the final touches to bids they will submit to City Clerk June Boglioli for advertising.

Included in the plans for consolidated Phases II and III are a second softball field, perimeter fencing around the entire park, outfield fencing around the two softball fields, dugouts, lighting, restroom facilities, a drinking fountain, a shuffleboard court, sidewalks, paved parking facilities and, if enough funds are left, landscaping.

Beebe said the total estimated cost for the additions and improvements is $115,000, all of which will be paid for out of CD funds.

The city has already spent $125,000 on improvements made this fiscal year at the park, improvements which include a lighted softball field, and lighted tennis and basketball courts.

Remar told the commissioners during their regular meeting Monday night he wants to incur the funds allocated for the improvements as quickly as possible. The park facilities already existing are being heavily used.

Pat Stedham is concert soloist

Mrs. Pat Stedham, vocalist, will present a concert of secular and sacred music at 3 p.m. Sunday in the Belle Glade Community Methodist Church.

The program includes country and Western music, operatic arias, Christmas Carols, and a variety of classical and pop tunes.

The soloist will be accompanied by Mrs. Helen Youngblood at the organ and Mrs. Karen Corbin, pianist.

Mrs. Stedham has been singing publicly since the age of three. At 14, she was featured on a 13-week musical variety television program in Macon, Ga.

She attended the Wesleyan Conservatory and as a student sang with the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra for six seasons. She sang a lead role in the Atlantic Civic Opera production of "Hansel and Gretel."

Pat is the wife of B. Ray Stedham and the mother of two sons, John and James. She gives private voice instruction and sings in the First Baptist Church choir.

A reception for Mrs. Stedham will be held in the Methodist church parlor following the concert.

Christian Day holds bake sale, dinner

BELLE GLADE—The Christian Day School Athletic Association will sponsor a spaghetti dinner, bake sale and Christmas bazaar Friday at the Belle Glade Civic Center.

All proceeds from the event will be used to support the athletic programs of the school, according to Roger Cunningham, president of the association. Serving will begin at 5 p.m. and continue until 8 p.m. Seating will be available at the center or orders can be taken out.

The dinner will consist of spaghetti, salad from the salad bar, bread and tea all for a donation of $3.00. Tickets may be purchased from Christian Day School or at the door on the day of the dinner.

The Christmas bazaar will offer an array of handcrafted items and plants, perfect for Christmas gift giving.

Homemade baked goods will also be on sale. Everyone is cordially invited to attend the dinner and bazaar.

Missionaries address Belle Glade Baptists

REV. JAMES B. ANNIS

BELLE GLADE—A former West Africa missionary will address a special youth service at 6:30 p.m. Sunday at the First Baptist Church in Belle Glade and then preside over the regular evening service at 7:30 p.m.

The Rev. James B. Annis and his wife were Southern Baptist missionaries stationed in Accra, Ghana until he resigned Sept. 30. He was a radio and television representative for the Ghana organization of Southern Baptist missionaries.

As field evangelist for the Accra Association, Rev. Annis helped to strengthen churches and preaching points. He also led them in developing and starting new churches. He was pastor of Tema Baptist Church and Calvary Baptist Church in Accra. He was evangelism coordinator between the Ghana Baptist Convention, missionaries and the Foreign Mission Board.

Mrs. Annis was a Sunday School teacher and in the past has been church choir and handbell choir director. She has worked with children in a Baptist youth center and teacher of fourth grade students in an American community school.

Rev. Annis' radio and television ministry included the production of two weekly 15-minute radio programs and four others used quarterly by the religious service of the Ghana Broadcasting Corporation.

He produced a five-minute meditation program for use on television one week each quarter. He also provided a weekly television program produced by the Southern Baptist Radio and Television Commission.

The Annises moved to Accra in 1966. They previously did evangelistic work in Tema and Yendi. They were appointed by the Foreign Mission Board in 1964 and studied language in Yendi for a year.

The public is invited to the Sunday services.

Sing-along set for Messiah

Those who consider "hearing Handel's MESSIAH a not-to-be-missed part of the Christmas season will have the opportunity for a unique musical experience on Saturday, Dec. 23, when a MESSIAH "Sing-Along" will be held with noted recitalist, Dr. Jack W. Jones, as Organist-Director.

The MESSIAH "Sing-Along," a community event, will be held at the First Baptist Church of West Palm Beach, 1101 S. Flagler Drive.

It will be open to the public and is planned as "A Joyous Christmas Celebration" for all those who enjoy singing or hearing George Frederick Handel's MESSIAH. Those who would like to sing are invited to bring their scores and sing. Those who enjoy hearing the MESSIAH are invited to come to listen.

The "Sing-Along" will begin at 7:30 p.m. Persons who are singing are asked to arrive thirty minutes early. Extra scores will be on hand for those who do not have their own music.

The program will include most of Part I of the MESSIAH and a few favorite solos and choruses from Part II and III.

Members of the First Baptist Church Jubilee Choir, The First United Methodist Church Choir, and The Choral Society of the Palm Beaches will provide choral leadership for the Sing-Along from the choir loft. Front pews will be reserved for persons who wish to sing along from the audience.

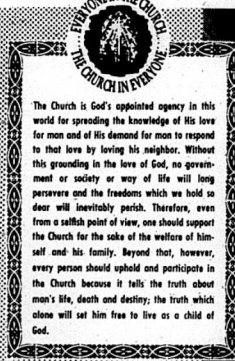

Area Church News

"REMEMBER, GRANDPA, WHEN..."

How Grandpa loves to hear that young voice say those magic words that mean, "We had good times together! I appreciate all the wonderful things you did for me when you were younger and able." Old folks love attention. They need it. They deserve to have it. They've spent their lives helping us, many times at the expense of their own desires and plans.

God commands us in Leviticus 19:32: "Thou shalt rise up before the hoary head, and honour the face of the old man, and fear thy God. I am the Lord."

Honor the older ones, too, by attending church this week and taking them with you.

Garden Club tours home

PAHOKEE—The Pahoee Garden Club met at 10 a.m. on Nov. 21 at the home of Mrs. Harold Wilkinson. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Robert Lampi, Mrs. James Harry Wilkinson and Mrs. Eugenie Laks. Guests were representatives from the Belle Glade Garden Club and the Chosen Garden Club. Mrs. Harold Wilkinson conducted a tour of her landscaped garden. Mrs. Jess Elliott, program chairman, presided at a "show-and-tell" feature on Christmas ideas. There was a display of the talents of the club members and guests. Each person explained materials used and their source, along with the uses of the item, construction and the origin of the idea.

Mrs. Lyons Williams, president, presided at the business meeting. Several recommendations from the Executive Board were passed.

On the basis of the suggestion of the Department of Transportation (DOT) and Highway Patrol in a meeting held with a committee from the garden club; Mayor Duncan Padgett, Jim Eldridge, top assistant to Dave Smith, Director Engineering Coordinator of Department of Transportation, Florida Highway Patrol Trooper Hudson and Donnie Martin of the Department of Public Works in Pahoee, regarding the necessity of safety measures at the intersection of 14th Street and 14th Terrace with Bacom Point Road, the Pahoee Garden Club passed a recommendation that a letter be sent to the DOT urging that a trip-Traffic light be installed at 14th Terrace as soon as possible. Another recommendation was that a letter be sent to DOT urging that the Australian pines along Highways 98, 80 and 441 be removed.

Wilma Holley was recognized as a visitor.

The following announcements were made: The Christmas Open House will be held at the home of Mrs. William Hatton on Dec. 19. The January meeting will be a field trip to Fort Pierce, a group will meet on Dec. 1 to make table decorations for the Appreciation Dinner to be held for Paul Rogers at the Elks Club in Belle Glade.

Plant clinic scheduled in Belle Glade

A plant clinic will be conducted by Gene Joyner, Urban Horticulturist, of the Palm Beach County Cooperative Extension Service at the Galdes Agricultural office on Friday, Dec. 1.

This plant clinic is set up for the purpose of allowing the public to bring in any problems they are having, with their trees, shrubbery or lawns and an agent will be available to look at the samples and diagnose the problem.

Bulletins on various subjects are also available at the agricultural Extension office and those attending the plant clinic are encouraged to pick-up bulletins of interest to them.

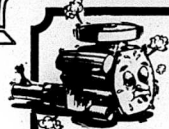

Persons who are unable to attend during the clinic hours may call in plant problems to 996-6511 and Gene Joyner will try to answer any questions over the phone. This free clinic is not a formal class or lecture and is conducted on an informal basis. Anyone having plant problems is encouraged to attend.

The clinic will be open from 1 to 2:30 p.m.

Jesse Owens speaks Sunday

BELLE GLADE—Jesse Owens, the famous all-time Olympian track and field star will speak in Belle Glade, Sunday, Dec. 3 at 3 p.m. at the Lakeshore Civic Center.

Owens was invited to Belle Glade by the Glades Reach Out Association (GROA).

Mr. W.C. Taylor, president of the organization stated the event is free, opened to the public and youths from throughout the Glades are encouraged to attend.

Owens is most noted for his Olympic feats at the 1936 Olympic games held in Berlin, Germany. Owens gained international distinction with the dramatic feat by setting new Olympic records in winning individual titles in the 100 meters, 200 meters and broad jump, and running on the victorious relay team. His Olympic broad jump wasn't surpassed for 24 years.

In 1955, the U.S. State Department delegated Mr. Owens as America's "Ambassador of Sports" and sent him on a two month good-will tour to the Far East. The following year he went to Australia as one of the personal representatives of President Eisenhower at the 16th Olympiad.

He was the honored guest of the German people at the 1972 Olympics held in Munich, Germany.

Today, over 40 years after earning the title of the "World's Fastest Human", the same Jesse Owens continues in the front ranks of athletes. He has gained respect and honor, not only for his achievements as an athlete of unparalleled skill and ability, but also because of his many and varied activities in community service. Through his athletic knowledge and ability he has been able to help the young people and has worked tirelessly in an effort to pass along the high ideals necessary as a sports participant. His experiences with youth all over the world have made him acutely aware of the needs and problems of young people everywhere. His major concern is doing his full share to make available better and more complete educational opportunities for all youth. To this end, "The Jesse Owens Educational Foundation" has been established.

In September 1973, the National Collegiate Athletic Association selected Owens to be the recipient of the 1974 Theodore Roosevelt Award, which is the highest honor bestowed upon anyone by the NCAA. Other recipients of this award have been Dwight D. Eisenhower, Christopher Kraft and General of the Army Omar N. Bradley.

In the summer of 1974, the National Track and Field Hall of Fame of the United States of America was established in Charleston, West Virginia, and Jesse Owens was one of the 26 Charter Members to be inducted in August.

JESSE OWENS, considered by many sports experts to be the greatest track and field star of the half century, will be speaking at the Lake Shore Civic Center Sunday, Dec. 3 at 3 p.m.

Presently a resident of Phoenix, Arizona, Owens is currently making public appearances on behalf of youth groups, and addressing civic meetings, sports banquets, and delivering commencement messages to various schools and colleges throughout the country. He is also a representative of the Lincoln-Mercury Division of the Ford Motor Company in their Marketing Division, as well as the Greyhound Corporation, and Armour Dial, speaking on behalf of these companies.

For 12 years he has spearheaded the ARCO Jesse Owens Games for the Atlantic Richfield Company for boys and girls 10-15 years of age. It has been a very successful program over the years.

In 1976, President Gerald Ford presented to Owens the Medal of Freedom in a ceremony before 250 members of the 1976 U.S. Olympic Teams.

Bingo games scheduled in Pahokee

The Pahokee High School Athletic Council will co-sponsor a bingo game at the PHS cafeteria on Dec. 6 at 8 p.m.

PUBLIC NOTICE

STATE OF FLORIDA DEPARTMENT OF ENVIRONMENTAL REGULATION
Pursuant to Section 403.088(4)(a), Florida Statutes, an application for a Temporary Operation Permit has been filed with the Department for the following water pollution source:
Applicant: South Florida Water Management District
Location of Pollution Source: Various locations as listed in the proposed permit provisions
Receiving Water Name: Lake Okechobee
Receiving Water Classification: Class II
Receiving Water Body: Lake Okechobee
In consideration of the application, and additional information furnished and any other objectives submitted, the Department hereby grants a Temporary Operation Permit. No temporary permit shall be granted by the Department unless it affirmatively finds:
1. The proposed discharge does not qualify for an Operation Permit;
2. The applicant is constructing, installing, or placing into operation, or has submitted plans and reasonable schedule for construction, installing or placing into operation of approved pollution abatement facility or alternate waste disposal system, or that the applicant has a waste for which no feasible and acceptable method of treatment or disposal is known or recognized but is making a bona fide effort through research and other means to discover and implement such a method;
3. The applicant needs permission to pollute the waters within the State for a period of time necessary to complete research, planning, construction, installation, or operation of an approved and acceptable pollution abatement facility or alternate waste disposal system;
4. There is no present, reasonable, alternative means of disposing of the waste other than by discharging it into the waters of the State;
5. The denial of a Temporary Operation Permit would work an extreme hardship upon the applicant;
6. The granting of a Temporary Operation Permit will be in the public interest; or
7. The discharge will not be unreasonably destructive to the quality on the receiving waters.
A copy of the proposed permit provisions is available for public inspection during regular business hours at the South Florida Subdistrict office located at 3301 Gun Club Road, West Palm Beach, Florida.
Residents in the drainage area of the discharge to receiving waters are hereby notified that objections or comments may be filed on or before December 19, 1978. These must be submitted in writing to the South Florida Subdistrict office.

GAARC
Club golf pro John Wright.
Incoming President Sandra Chamblée also elected outgoing Association President Earline Harrell for recruiting 21 new members, the most new members recruited by any one person.
Father Charles Farrah installed new officers and board members following their election in a short business meeting.
The new officers are President Fred John, who is chairing the Chamber's building committee, Sandra Chamblée, Vice President Chandra Sizemore, Secretary Alma Henry and Treasurer Shari Lohman. New board members are the Rev. J.B. Adams, James Buchanan, Broman Cumpton, Dixie Evans and Gina Farley.
Others still serving terms on the board are Mary Campbell, Earline Harrell, Ken Harris, Evelyn Johnson, Sue Kidder and Carl Zumpf.

said he felt the committee could also come up with other ways of cutting the cost of the building by eliminating some of the built-in features.
One of the items he mentioned which could be eliminated for the time being was a cooking facility, although he said he believed it would be beneficial in the future.
City Manager Robert R. Sanders said another possible way of cutting costs would be for the city to undertake the task of building the parking area, the sidewalks and the terrace, jobs which could be performed by city work crews.
Trammel also said there is a possibility the Chamber would agree to using the proceeds of selling its existing building to apply against the cost of constructing the new building.
In other business, the Chamber finalized an agreement to hire Briley, Wild Associates of Ormond Beach to act as the city's consulting engineers. The commissioners met Michael White, the engineer the company will maintain in the city four days a month for routine work. White and company official Tommy Strang were present for the meeting.
Agreed to formally hire Adley and Associates as consulting planners for the city's Community Development Program. The city has used the firm for some time but no formal agreement had been adopted for their use in connection with Community Development.
Agreed that the city Recreation Department could operate a Glimanics Program in conjunction with The Health Nut Hut, a health spa whose owners, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Cameron, objected to a city sponsored program early this year on grounds it was in direct competition with them.
Agreed to support a barbecue in the amount of $200 for participants in a flag football program Sunday at Lakeshore Park.
Postponed discussion of a water agreement with Iarnal Bess.

Bowermeister
part of auto mechanics he doesn't teach is automatic transmissions, because of a lack of equipment and space to work.
Bowermeister said his method of teaching is to get under the hood of a car, or under the car itself, and show the students how to make the repair, then let the student do it himself.
"This isn't a white collar and tie job," he said. "You have to get greasy with the kids." He also said he believes in making things as simple as he can but he does believe in using books too.
Bowermeister is obviously dismayed at times at the lack of responses he gets when questioning some of his students on basics and noted that he has received nothing but blank stares from an entire class when he's asked them at what temperatures water freezes and boils.
"It makes you wonder," he said, "what the hell they've been teaching these kids."
On the other hand, he said he believes practical results are more important than certificates and degrees indicating a teacher has completed this course of study or successfully passed that test.
"The proof of the pudding's in the eating," he said and a fellow teacher noted the proof of Bowermeister's work is in the number of students he's placed in jobs.
One of the reasons for his success may be indicated by his remark that he takes things seriously.
Rogers
banquet is being planned to honor Rogers for his 24 years of service in the U.S. House of Representatives and is the third such appreciation dinner in the county.
The Congressman, his wife, Rebecca, his brother, Dwight and his wife, Virginia, will be the guests of honor at the affair.
Before the dinner, a reception will begin at 7 p.m., with a cash bar in the Club Lounge. The dinner will begin at 8 and will feature prime rib and wine with complementary dishes catered by Fr-Eddy's.
Entertainment will be provided by John Cimino, a piano player from Lake Park who specializes in playing at clubs and parties.
Mrs. Mae C. Pope told the other committee members decorations will be made up of fresh vegetables, donated by area packers, and croton leaves. She said she is being assisted in decorations by members of the Canal Point and Pahokee Garden Clubs and some individual ladies from Clewiston.
Wedgworth sparked the committee efforts for the reception and dinner by calling together the members of the committee. Other members include Billy Rogers, Dr. Luis Guerrero, Rupert Mock Sr., Mrs. Pope, Mrs. Sara Molena, Duncan Padgett, Robert Lee Larry Royal, W.C. Taylor, John Baker, Iz Nachman, Larry Tucker, Phil Haire and Dean Jones.

"If I'm teaching, I take it seriously," he said. "If it's the Athletic Council (of which he's been a member and off-times president for most of his nine years at Glades Central), I take it seriously."
But most of all, he takes his fishing seriously. "If the day ever comes other things put a stop to my fishing," he said. "I'm going to call a halt to everything."

CITY WORKERS and other volunteers prepare the Lions Club building for the Ninth Annual Municipal League barbecue set for Dec. 8 for Palm Beach County politicians and their friends and families. Wayne Carter, James Elrod, Superintendent of Public Works, Donnie Martin and Bill Goodman are shown here painting the interior with paint donated by City Clerk Betty McCoy, Utilities Director Bill Cross and Mayor Duncan Padgett. Councilman George Rashley is cleaning the drapes. The work is all being done on the workers' own time and money.

Sugar will get top priority says Carter

Clewiston, Nov. 21....Passage of new sugar legislation will be top priority of the Carter administration in the early part of the 96th Congress, Dr. Howard Hjort, director of economics, policy analysis and budget for the U.S. Department of Agriculture, told members of the Florida Sugar Cane League at their annual meeting in Clewiston, Nov. 20.

According to Dr. Hjort, the Administration recognizes that as the costs of producing sugar domestically go up—the gap between the cost of production and a relatively stable market price is closing.

Dr. Hjort, a top Carter advisor, was invited to visit the industry in hopes of developing a working relationship with the Administration which will help solve some of the problems plaguing the industry and benefit all parties affected by sugar policy.

In his report to League members, Arthur Kirslein, III, outgoing president, said the past year has been one of status quo and frustration for the sugar industry.

"We are not prospering—we are surviving; and unless we are more successful in our attempts for some type of reasonable legislation during the coming year we predict the United States sugar industry will be even more in dire straits," said Kirslein.

One of the industry's main problems has been failure of Congress to enact new sweetener legislation. Many industry officials spent long hours throughout the past year seeking this new legislation in Congress, but failed when Congress adjourned last month without approving any new legislation.

"This year we are hoping to work on sweetener legislation which will provide stable prices for consumers and protect domestic producers. We intend to offer a spirit of cooperation to all interested parties, and to develop a positive dialogue with the Administration and consumer groups, which we hope will produce satisfactory legislation during the early part of the new Congress," said Kirslein.

Kirslein, who is also general manager of the Okeelanta division of Gulf and Western Food Products Inc., served as league head for the past two years. S.N. Knight, Sr., president of Atlantic Sugar Association was elected to serve as president for the coming year.

Russell Coach of the Year

PAHOKEE-Football coach, Antoine Russell of the Pahokee High School Blue Devils was named "Coach of the Year" by other coaches in the Suncoast West Conference Monday.

Russell's selection was based on the degree of his team's improvement from its first game through its last game.

The 42-year-old coach said his peers looked at the Blue Devils' performance during its first two losses to Suncoast and Clewiston, and its subsequent seven-game winning streak before losing to Glades Central in its final game.

"It's a great honor," he said, "to be voted 'Coach of the Year' by your peers. It shows they think you're doing a good job."

Russell declined taking full responsibility for his team's performance, saying that his assistant coaches were responsible for its success, too. He said coaches Eddie Rhodes, James Hyneman and Eddie Buckner should share the honor.

Russell has been coaching at Pahokee High School for seven years. During that time his teams have won numerous awards.

Other awards made to PHS football standouts Monday included ones for sportsmanship and all conference team membership.

Officials who called Pahokee's football games selected the Blue Devils for this year's "Sportsmanship Award." The team will get to keep the Sportsmanship Trophy one year for that honor.

Players from PHS named to the Suncoast West Conference "All Conference Team" included Leonard Jones, Osmond Edwards, Stafford Everett, Frank Walker and Ronnie Osborne.

The Blue Devils will later receive a trophy for tying for first place in the Suncoast West Conference. Sharing first place are Atlantic and Suncoast.

Other teams in the conference include Jupiter, Cardinal Newman, Glades Central, and North Shore.

Sports

Blue Devil cage season is underway

PAHOKEE-Basketball season for the Pahokee High School (PHS) Blue Devils officially got underway Tuesday night as Coach Eddie Rhodes' team faced Palm Beach Gardens (PBG) in the Pahokee High gymnasium.

Although the results of both the varsity and junior varsity teams were not known as of press time, Rhodes predicted earlier that it would be a tough game.

Indeed, PBG is a Class 4A school, which means it has more students to choose from when picking an athletic team than does 2A Pahokee.

But Rhodes is used to that kind of pressure. Most of the ball club's team plays are from 3-and 4-A schools.

"We take a lot of bumps," he says, "but we get used to stiffer competition."

The third year coach explained that playing larger and "more seasoned" teams in regular play gives his team an edge in the playoffs.

In Tuesday's game, the Blue Devils' starting lineup included Stafford Everett, Willie Pickens, Osmond Edwards, Ronald Osborne and Ned Baldwin.

Rhodes said he is expecting some "great things" from those players because they are returning veterans of the team.

Rhodes isn't complaining about not having a large field of athletes from which to pick a 10-member squad, but he says that the transition from one sport season to the next is difficult because some of the better athletes play in several sports. All but one of five starting players in Tuesday night's game had been playing football just a week before. That left his team with just five days of practice before the first game, while most of the teams in the conference have had two weeks of practice.

The sooner we get and get the football out of our system, the better we will play," he said.

Other players on the team include Leon Allen, Leonard Banks, Edward Everett, Calvin Fountain, Nathaniel Hannah, Elvis Harvey and Guillelmo Hernandez.

Harvey and Fountain are two younger players (11th and 10th graders, respectively) who Rhodes expects to help the team on the boards.

Compared to other teams they will play, the Blue Devils are small, Rhodes said, though only two players are under 6-feet tall. However, he said his team is quick and should be able to produce a winning season if it can get enough rebounds.

Last year the Blue Devils had a 16-7 record. During Rhodes' first year as coach, the team was 23-5, and won the state championship.

Speed and perfection is what Rhodes said his team will strive for. With those qualities "we can come out of some of the rough ones a winner," he said.

Christian Day basketball season starts

BELLE GLADE-With the football jerseys barely washed and stored at Christian Day School, coach Ken Lassiter has already changed hats and faces a tough schedule for the basketball season, which begins Friday night in an opener with Evangelical away.

Lassiter has the added problem of fielding an inexperienced team, only six of which returned from last season's 9-14 showing.

He said he will be starting Mike Graham, Drew Cobb, Bill Taylor, Jesus Armas and Kent Davis but of these, only two saw much action last year.

Other members of the squad include Steve Smith and Bill Bailey, both returners, and William Crews and Tony Duboy.

In all, 46 students at the local school are out for basketball in one form or another on four different teams, including junior high, junior varsity, girl's varsity and boy's varsity.

Coaching the girls this year will be up to Janice Bouser.

The first home game will be against Kings on December 5.

"Our main problem," said Lassiter, "is inexperience. We lost three starters last year and those we did keep have very little experience."

Because of this, Lassiter said he will concentrate on a tough, aggressive defense. "We don't have a high percentage shooter," he noted. "That's why we'll concentrate on defense." Lassiter expects to utilize the man-to-man defense this season.

"We've also got a really tough schedule," he said. "Six of the teams we meet this year are real strong."

Lassiter said he has not seen any of his opponents play as of yet so he does not know what the Crusaders will face.

Concerning Friday's game, however, he noted the Crusaders defeated Evangelical twice last year and "unless they've recruited some monsters," the matchup should be a good way to start the season.

"We had some problems with pressure defenses last year," the coach said, "and this year we'll be working hard on fundamentals and handling pressure defenses when they come along. We'll try to eliminate the high turnover rate that hurt us last year."

Boat trails opened for sportsmen

Approximately 36 miles of boat trails have recently been cut on Lake Okeechobee by fisheries personnel with the Game & Fresh Water Fish Commission.

"Some 50 miles of trails are still open and usable from last year," says Lathan Ager, the Commission's Biologist on the lake, "providing a total of nearly 85 miles of boat trails available to the fisherman."

"Cutting and maintaining small boat trails through dense vegetation," Ager says, "provides greater access to areas of the lake where good fishing exists."

"Most fish camp operators," he added, "are aware of the trails in their respective areas of the lake and are more than happy to provide directions to fishermen and to duck hunters, as well."

"With water levels about 3 feet above last year's levels on Lake

Okeechobee this fall, thousands of acres of marsh contain plenty of fish and waterfowl for fishermen and hunters who will seek these trails and use them to obtain access inside the Lake's vast marsh area.

"We're going to pursue cutting additional trails after Thanksgiving," Ager said, "once the weed cutter becomes available."

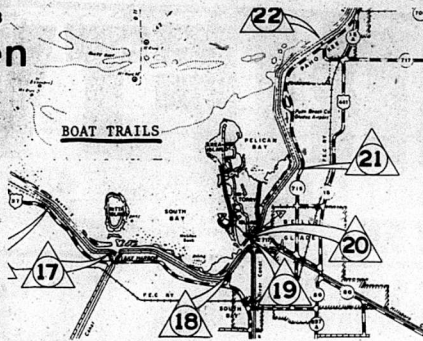

Specks are biting early on Lake Okeechobee

Some early speckled perch (black crappie) catches are highlighting the fishing on Lake Okeechobee. Specks in the 1 to 1 1/4 pound range have been reported in the rim canal near Buckhead Ridge. Anglers have limited out while fishing early in the morning and fishing deep using a variety of yellow and white jigs.

"Fishing changes from day to day," advised Lathan Ager, Fisheries Biologist with the Game & Fresh Water Fish Commission, "so anglers should check with local bait and tackle dealers or fish camps before launching their boats. The local operators will be able to advise the fishermen where the local hot spots are to avoid a wasted day of fishing."

Commission biologist have spotted some early spawning around the Nubbins Slough area and advise that fishing a mile or so offshore while drifting on calmer days has produced 25 to 50 fish per boat during a half-day trip out on the Lake.

"Checking on local conditions," says Ager, "before backing your boat up to a public ramp will insure a more enjoyable and profitable fishing trip."
